EXPERTISE

Wayne is a Former New Zealand Police Detective with over 30 years of investigative experience and a diverse range of skills. His reputation for solving complex frauds and thefts is without exception.

Wayne is a former New Zealand Post Security Manager and is a recognised security expert, having performed security consultancy for many of New Zealand's largest corporate entities and several government agencies.

EXPERIENCE

As a qualified New Zealand Police Detective, Wayne worked on all facets of crime investigations including several high profile homicides such as arresting David Tamihere for the murder of the Swedish tourists in Operation Stockholm. During his service in the New Zealand Police Wayne was awarded two Silver Merit Awards for performance.

At New Zealand Post Wayne successfully lead a National Security Team of 10 staff. In that role he developed a combination of investigation and proactive strategies for the team to achieve. He also developed a reporting database, producing statistics and reporting protocols to support effectiveness. Wayne has lead and was part of an international Postal Task Force carrying out security reviews at International Airports

Also in that role Wayne lead the team through development of Kiwibank which was a unique opportunity to apply security to a startup bank within budgets, developing security strategies, processes, procedures and training.

For the establishment of Kiwibank, Wayne developed new responses to robberies in a corporate and franchise network. He engaged employees at all levels developing new procedures, training and response procedures and the delivery of the same. He was responsible for developing risk matrixes for robbery prevention to enable effective delivery of prevention services for safety of staff.

Wayne has also developed and implemented fraud prevention packages for retail networks with the delivery of training.

More recently, Wayne has assisted a government agency on a short term contracted number of hours per week re-aligning their security and fraud prevention plans and processes, requiring him to report directly to the board.

In 2012 Wayne was appointed General Manager of Paragon as part of our succession plan, working alongside our Managing Director and having more control of the day to day activities of the business and an increasing financial involvement.

Wayne personally performs investigations as our lead investigator and is available to meet clients 24/7.

A PI with the true 'X Factor' Wayne is more than capable of handling any issue for a client.
